This charming older home had a typical small chopped up layout and outdated finishes. The challenge was to create better function while maintaining the integrity of the history of the home. To do so, walls were opened up and custom cabinets installed to match the existing woodwork. Niches and corners are cleverly used. Durable quartz countertops and custom butcherblock was installed. New hardwood flooring was used to blend the old with the new.

Project Goals:

1. To maximize space and storage and creatively use nooks and crannies.
2. To make the new kitchen fit aesthetically with the character of their older home.
3. To improve function and flow.
